

FLAT EMBROIDERY

For centuries flat embroidery has been a high-quality textile decoration technique. Thanks to the continuous development of production technology we dispose today of a product which meets the highest demands in many fields of application. Thus flat embroidery offers almost endless possibilities of presenting a motif to perfection

Besides a huge selection of colours embroidery silks provide various properties. Mainly nylon- and polyester silks are used, but also shiny metallic ones. Special effects are produced e.g. by phosphorescent silks, which make the motifs glow in the dark. For work- and safety wear particularly heat-resistant embroidery silks are recommended.
